BWCSL Division 1 Week 4 Results

Posted by Ripper at 22:16 17/9/2002.

Another very entertaining night of BWCSL action in many respects, with clans pitting their skills against each other on the unfamiliar territory of de_clan2_fire. Here are the results in full:

- dNC 13 - 11 FCC
- NS 13 - 9 SA
- 6K 13 - 7 VETS
- erm:cs default win over Ne.UK
- ONE default win over SO19

The FCC v dNC match went right to the wire. A good early 2nd half performance from FCC kept them in the game (helped greatly by JediBitch's AWPing moments), and at one stage dNC needed 6 of the last 8 rounds to win, a tough task indeed. Then Ajam started to pick off people with his AK before AWPing his way through FCC, backed up well by his teammates (Although he managed to suicide twice). In the final round it went down to 2v2, dNC planted the bomb as FCC approached the site. A grenade was thrown in and FCC attacked, taking out 1 dNC player, only for the last dNC to take out the remaining FCC members.

In the other games 6K pulled off a strong win against VETS, and NS, on the back of a reasonable performance at GDOC, managed to beat SA 13-9. SO19 were unable to field enough players and awarded ONE the default, while Ne.UK's departure from the division handed erm:cs a default win.

As always, for the week's results as they're added, click here.

SA v NS Game OMFG HOW LAME

Incase u hadnt heard they merced lil, which tbh is completely unfair. Im not moaning (well tbh i am) but he was in a class of his own. NS and SA would of been evenly matched if it werent for lil who just simply won the game for them. Ok in the BWCSL rules it is completely fair for NS to have lil... however erm if u ask me it is blatent mercing and Rogue has already agreed with me to update the rules to stop this kind of thing happening again.

I am also completely disapointed in lil himself. I mean he is a well respected player and surely it wasnt that fun for him ? Spoiling an OFFICIAL bwcsI match ? yeah thx mate thought I-eS were a good bunch of lads but ur obviously a tit. Hopefully the rest of I-eS arnt like u tbh I have it on good authority that DART isnt...

k so yeah rant over tbh want a rematch not default cos that would just be lame...

tbh im still shocked that anyone could be that lame to recruit such a well known player and use him just to win a game they thought might be close...

BWCSL is fun, it now contains what seems to be Britains most prominent clans, all of course chasing the missing i-es

Cheers to all the bwcsI admins, BW and of course Rogue

From an official perspective, lil was registered with us by WONID as an NS player and he wasn't a member of another BWCSL clan. As such, we couldn't do anything. We'll look at a review of our rules as soon as possible, but it isn't going to be easy to specifically forbid this kind of practice without causing a whole host of problems.

Any sensible suggestions on how to frame rules concerning this matter would be much appreciated.

There is no way you can block this in the rules, without huge huge problems and defining etc.

NS registered lil who is in no other clan according to BWCSL.

well, the cal-i makes it so that you register your players at the start of the season, and you also list their won id's. They also have a rule that says once the game has started there can be no complaints relating to WON ID's. BWCSL could do something similar for example, in the case of NS vs SA, lil would not have been registered on won id as he wouldnt have been added at the season start, and therefore SA would be in the position of whether they will overlook the won id/player or call the rule into play before the match commences. In a normal situation, if the player was a not i-es lil, most the clans in the bwcs l would be mature enough to allow the other clan to field the player in the interests of a good fair game rather than forcing the opposition to give default win o_O

[Comment: Report | IP: Logged]

Rogue1
22:44 17/9/2002

We allow clans to add more players as the season progresses, since so many of our clans have an incredibly high player-turnover. Limiting the number of new additions a clan can make in a season is a possibility, but it would need quite a lot of thought as to what the limit should be set to.

pld to all the clans who played tonight n won - shame to see couple of default games.

the lil thing - it aint right jus bringing a well known member from UKs number 1 clan to play for u. You registered him for bwcs1 legally etc etc but we could just register any odd good player to try n make us win game 🤔:D

in bwcs1 - they should have transfer windows 🤔:D at start of the season u can register players etc - then u cant register any more members till say half way thru the season - then u cant till after the season has ended? jus an idea or u could just simply make the rules regarding adding players so that they can be allowed/disallowed at the disgresion of the admins. if a clans blatantly bringing in a good player to play for them for 1 match then thats it, admin can just say no.

10 day window for changing players, however it would still make this kind of thing legal as they could just of added lil at the start.

Only way to stop it is to appeal to a clans sense of sportsmanship and fair play. I mean tbh if we had someone managed to convince SK to play for us (through bribes natch) then they would be moaning as well imho. Infact tbh u could get anyone from any top european clan to play quiet easily if u knew them.

What is needed surprissingly is for the UK CS scene to GROW UP and stop being so lame and pathetic. And then we can all start walkin on water and never miss etc etc another thing to be added to the list of things that will never happen... LoB [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Scara North & South 22:56 17/9/2002	A few points here :- Yes lil played well cause obviously he is class, did he carry us... NO. He finished top as t's yes but not as ct's. I sent the e-mail updating our wonid list sometime last week (i think) and asked splidge tonight if our wonid list had been updated and he replied just done it. He could of just given me a made up wonid and played under an alias but he didnt. A side note on the sportmanship side of things you may want to ask FCC a thing or 2 about that as like 45 mins b4 our game vs them i said we wouldnt have a team and whoever it was i was speaking to (think it was jedibh) said we may be able to get it postponed to week 10. I said yeah they will if you agree and thanks. He replied ok ill talk to the admin. Game time comes and the admins in #bwcs1 room asking us to join server, im like errr aint it postponed so he went back into the server asked them then said theyre taking the default win. Just my 2 penneth :) GG SA wp [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Menele 23:01 17/9/2002	"Admin discession" rules are great as a flexible cure-all, but murder to enforce as people will insist on arguing with your decision. Hard and fast specific rules are easier to enforce, although may not catch everything they probably should, such as our current wonid system although it does cut down on mercing dramatically. I'm sure Rogue1 will come up with something nice, he always was a polite diplomatic sort ;) btw, well played SA. Thought you might have pulled it back in 2nd half but was not to be. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
LordOfBlood 23:01 17/9/2002	erm he so carried u every round tbh... if he DIDNT carry u then u wont mind a rematch will u ? LoB [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
Necroboy 23:02 17/9/2002	Well scara, didnt know it happened like that. But to postpone a game an hour before the game is not very sportmanship either. especially since it was dust, and we had played 2-3 pcws on it during the week and would REALLY not like to repeat playing dust again, EVER. And to lil issue, how about just banning all i-es players from bwcs1 unless they actually have a team. They are the only players that are likely to outclass anyone else in a div1 game. Doubt many people in div could get players from other top eu clans to play. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Sadly, Dart is right. We do our best to stop mercing, but unless we introduce rules so draconian that they'd cripple our league, we're never going to be able to stop it completely.

		We do as much as possible to stop mercs and we did ban somebody for it last week, since he was registered for another BWCSL clan. Our current rules do work in some situations and it's better than having no rules at all. But sadly, I think the chances of a perfect anti-merc system are pretty slim. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Aardvark theb0g 23:39 17/9/2002		Well I don't thin its possible, or even fair, to try to enforce a blanket 'you can only play for one clan whether in BWCSL or not' rule. We ourselves have had Houd from ui play many games for us, although he has been registered to us since start of season 2 :) Some form of transfer window system and more than 24 hours notice would help these problems sort themselves, most mercs only paly on spur of the moment, if they can be organised enough to want to play a week or so ahead and still turn up for the match, thats fair play. As to why SO19 defaulted, we lost 2 players this week, with a 3rd on holiday til saturday (when this player is Lewis, we know theres gonna be problems :)) We tried to get a team for today, even moved the time forward so that phantom could play from finland. Sadly unforeseen circumstances stopped one person playing, and another disappeared 5 minutes before the match, despite playing in our 7pm pcw. Our apologies to ONE, who could justifiably feel messed about a bit, having been good enough to change their evenings schedule at 34 hours notice. Sorry lads :([Comment: Report IP: Logged]

x2 01:32 18/9/2002	On idea would be to have all the members from the clan register at the beginning the league, here they enter their WONid. Now if you want to add members/WONid's then there should be say a 8 day wait before they can be added. The thing is, if you really wanted to get away with it, you could add another WON'id, use a members CD Key whos WON'id is there. If there were any suspicions, then you could refer back to who signed up, and match their IP up. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

BWCSL Division 1 Week 4 Results

Posted by Ripper at 22:16 17/9/2002.

Another very entertaining night of BWCSL action in many respects, with clans pitting their skills against each other on the unfamiliar territory of de_clan2_fire. Here are the results in full:

- dNC 13 - 11 FCC
- NS 13 - 9 SA
- 6K 13 - 7 VETS
- erm:cs default win over Ne.UK
- ONE default win over SO19

The FCC v dNC match went right to the wire. A good early 2nd half performance from FCC kept them in the game (helped greatly by JediBitch's AWPing moments), and at one stage dNC needed 6 of the last 8 rounds to win, a tough task indeed. Then Ajam started to pick off people with his AK before AWPing his way through FCC, backed up well by his teammates (Although he managed to suicide twice). In the final round it went down to 2v2, dNC planted the bomb as FCC approached the site. A grenade was thrown in and FCC attacked, taking out 1 dNC player, only for the last dNC to take out the remaining FCC members.

In the other games 6K pulled off a strong win against VETS, and NS, on the back of a reasonable performance at GDOC, managed to beat SA 13-9. SO19 were unable to field enough players and awarded ONE the default, while Ne.UK's departure from the division handed erm:cs a default win.

As always, for the week's results as they're added, click here.

jeds ^^ I laughed and i laughed, and then i laughed some more!!

lil may have been playin, but how d'ya know it weren't his older bro on the computer? or even his pet!?!? i heard he pwns too.

Fact is mercing can't be stopped, CS would have to get completely professional. So lads buckle up and get ready for loads more innit!

wp dNC, i jus watched the HLTV. "sol"

And now its time for Ferrers thoughts...

bloddy hell go offline for few hours come back to another 80 + post on bwcsl.

All I can say is this, The guys practiced hard for this one and are obviously a bit upset for losing the lil issue aside its been a good hard season in bwcsl with us losing all of our 4 matchs but bar the erm match I dont think weve ever been out classed or played, It will be a pity to drop down a division but I guess the few lapses of concentration in matchs have cost us dear.

Regarding lil these are my personal feelings not those of the clan. To be the best you have to play the best and in this situation they had one of the best players in the uk playing for them. NS arnt exactly a shoddy team as well so im really pleased for the lads from what looks to have been a tight match, second half at least.

As D4rt points out lil never hid his name, so didnt mind what was to follow but what I would have appreciated was for lil or someone from NS to drop by to say they were using him before hand , As otherwise you cant expect people to be happy when you come out of a match losing to a team of a very similer skill level but that contained one of the best players in the country.

End of the day its all about respect.

Nuff Said ;)

Necroboy 09:40 18/9/2002	"hang on, is this the same dNC in the eurocup, going up against the worlds best? GG dNC, sure you'll do great!" Well it was clanfire, and I doubt many div1 teams were as prepared as they would be on a "normal" map. The score would prolly been very different. But I do think you underestimate fcc a little bit. vip 10:45 18/9/2002	i think ns would have managed fine without lil considering they been about as individuals for ages and know how to play the game. Just cause he comes top on T doesnt mean he won the match for them, need those demos 📺:D. I merced a few times in bwcs1 and i think a stranger coming to a team isnt all that helpful so mebbe spaz playing would have been just as good if not better specially on a strange map where communication is important. I dont remember ever 'sucking' on lan...but we do have the disadvantage of having 2 of our best players in denmark who cant come to many lans.That im afraid is the only excuse i can give,oh and the fact that at CPL we were drinkin till 6am the morning of the event,had 1 hour sleep then pld cpl drunk/hungover.

Why? cos we dont take it all that seriously,sure we try our best,but we dont practice like the pros,we dont prepare like the pros,and we dont play as well as the pros :)

We will however be having TyPE and necro over from denmark for i14,and while its not the most important lan in the world,we will have our strongest team.

Im sure there r alot of ppl who think we cheat cos we arent as well known as some of the other top clans,but we have been a clan for 2 and a half years,and have had practically the same team from the start,which makes for good teamplay and communication.

Hopefully we will continue to improve by playing such clans as dNC :D

BWCSL Division 1 Week 4 Results

Posted by Ripper at 22:16 17/9/2002.

Another very entertaining night of BWCSL action in many respects, with clans pitting their skills against each other on the unfamiliar territory of de_clan2_fire. Here are the results in full:

- dNC 13 - 11 FCC
- NS 13 - 9 SA
- 6K 13 - 7 VETS
- erm:cs default win over Ne.UK
- ONE default win over SO19

The FCC v dNC match went right to the wire. A good early 2nd half performance from FCC kept them in the game (helped greatly by JediBitch's AWPing moments), and at one stage dNC needed 6 of the last 8 rounds to win, a tough task indeed. Then Ajam started to pick off people with his AK before AWPing his way through FCC, backed up well by his teammates (Although he managed to suicide twice). In the final round it went down to 2v2, dNC planted the bomb as FCC approached the site. A grenade was thrown in and FCC attacked, taking out 1 dNC player, only for the last dNC to take out the remaining FCC members.

In the other games 6K pulled off a strong win against VETS, and NS, on the back of a reasonable performance at GDOC, managed to beat SA 13-9. SO19 were unable to field enough players and awarded ONE the default, while Ne.UK's departure from the division handed erm:cs a default win.

Now, now, people. Please be nice :)

It makes my job so much easier when people aren't at each others' throats. Oh, those of you wishing to punch me in person for the various decisions I've had to make since taking over BWCSL will get a chance to do so at i14 :)

i didnt say bwcsI wouldnt let them have the forfeit, i said FCC had backstabbed them for agreeing then changing their mind. So what are you talking about?

Aardvark theb0g 00:22 19/9/2002	Were you saying i was picking on NS when FCC were unsportsmanlike shads? If not, then I apologise, I thought that was what you meant. If so, then I'll say again that FCC were unsportsmanlike tts in that instance. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
Ns.BJ 00:23 19/9/2002	Theres no point even talking to you is there aard, im not saying it was justified or you did much wrong taken purely on face value, but fact is... this may be a shock but .. no1 in ns likes you, everytime you join theres the feeling of 'oh no hes gonna go off on another one' now if scara bans you .. take a hint that ppl dont like you? that being so you either try hard to be nice and make up or you just leave it as that. BWCSL Division 1 Week 4 Results

Posted by Ripper at 22:16 17/9/2002.

Another very entertaining night of BWCSL action in many respects, with clans pitting their skills against each other on the unfamiliar territory of de_clan2_fire. Here are the results in full:

- dNC 13 - 11 FCC
- NS 13 - 9 SA
- 6K 13 - 7 VETS
- erm:cs default win over Ne.UK
- ONE default win over SO19

The FCC v dNC match went right to the wire. A good early 2nd half performance from FCC kept them in the game (helped greatly by JediBitch's AWPing moments), and at one stage dNC needed 6 of the last 8 rounds to win, a tough task indeed. Then Ajam started to pick off people with his AK before AWPing his way through FCC, backed up well by his teammates (Although he managed to suicide twice). In the final round it went down to 2v2, dNC planted the bomb as FCC approached the site. A grenade was thrown in and FCC attacked, taking out 1 dNC player, only for the last dNC to take out the remaining FCC members.

In the other games 6K pulled off a strong win against VETS, and NS, on the back of a reasonable performance at GDOC, managed to beat SA 13-9. SO19 were unable to field enough players and awarded ONE the default, while Ne.UK's departure from the division handed erm:cs a default win.

As always, for the week's results as they're added, click here.

Aardvark theb0g 20:17 18/9/2002	So its ok to merc if you don't have a team then dart? And don't give me crap about how ns got f*ed over when they wanted to pp against fcc, you can have 1 guaranteed postponed game per season, GIVEN 24 HOURS NOTICE. Ns didn't give notice, fcc were entitled to claim the default, which thy did. Now this was lame to do given they'd arranged to postpone, but thats nothing to do with BWCSL, it wasn't agreed through the admin team, nothing there for the admins to enforce. I'm sad to say this is the second time Ns ahve been involved in an 'unsportsmanlike' accusation, and both times they've rejected the offer of a rematch to clear the issue. At least this time they're being honest about why they won't play again, rather than saying they were quitting cs so no point playing... [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

At least this time they're being honest about why they won't play again, rather than saying they were quitting cs so no point playing... So what you're saying is, you have no problem with fcc not wanting a rematch being nice and unsportsman-like but when n@s are "unsportsman-like" they get the s thrown at them? I don't give a s whether the rules say suck them off for 2 hours or 24 before they're 'meant' to postpone, you said they had the choice of taking the default and they did, NO NOT TOO UNSPORTSMANLY IS IT! Oh but apparently it wasn't a problem because the ADMINS couldn't do anything as there was nothing against it in the rules.... THIS SITUATION IS VERY DIFFERENT ISN'T IT ---> PLAYER SIGNS UP FOR CLAN ---> PLAYER PLAYS FOR CLAN --> s COMPLETELY AGAINST RULES!!!!!!.. oh wait. I guess n@s should've just asked to postpone at such late notice again knowing that such sportsmanly clans are in the league and admins really give a f what happens instead of just playing the game with players that are signed up for them... 	iron 23:08 18/9/2002	why the f is everybody arguing over some online league, if these games were played at LAN, the results would be so much different. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	Scara North & South 23:30 18/9/2002	lol aardvark let it go or seek therapy you came 2nd get over it :) [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	Rogue1 23:37 18/9/2002	Just to clear a couple of things up: NS didn't break ANY rules. They registered lil as their player, he's not in a competing clan and so as far as we're concerned, he's their player. Our rules aren't ideal, but as far as I can see, they're the least of all available evils. We do allow postponements. A clan can initiate one postponement per season. If they give sufficient notice, the postponement is automatic. If they ask at the last minute, then I make them ask their opposition. This is only fair, since no team likes to have a team ready, be on the server and then be forced into a postponement, particularly when they've put a lot of preparation in. Any postponements forced upon us by network problems etc are not counted off a clans postponements quota. And yes, we are an online league, not a LAN competition. However, before you all rubbish us for this, remember that the gaming scene would be awfully boring and awfully sparse if LAN events were the only things around. Also, bear in mind that LAN results aren't always more credible than online results. After all, multinational clans are obviously going to be disadvantaged at LANs, due to the problems involved in getting their ideal team to the event. Online play isn't perfect, but it's still the most common form of multiplayer gaming (for most clans, it's the only form they ever experience) and it's not going to disappear just because you've decided you like LAN play more. :P [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	Ns.BJ 23:49 18/9/2002	I dunno what happened as i wasnt about for last week or so probably why ns had few players but, lil said hed play a few games for us a while back after we met at gdoc.. ages before i went away it was in our channel topic i dunno if it was jokey then or what as some ppl may have noticed we're not the most serious clan of dedicated players.. But just a thought, lil is a bloody good player, and i kinda doubt he just plays for any old ppl who ask him to, maybe he played for ns as he thought he'd have fun at a game as we dont take owt seriously and cs isnt the be all and end all of our lives? just a thought and cheers to all the ppl we met at gdoc lots of nice ppl and had a good laugh, shame people who post online from behind their screens are such tossers. 	shads theb0g 23:52 18/9/2002	BJ you better not be "Bored" all the time in rl too :E ok sorry that's such a bad joke worthy of scara :([Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	Havors 23:58 18/9/2002	I agree with lil, this is why the UK CS scene is so s to many I33t wanabees and young kids with attitude problems.

Instead of SA saying gg pld they started whinging.

We got bummed by 6k did you here us moaning about the dodgy kants they have playing for them?

The Uk scene will only progress when people grow up and drop the l33test attitudes.

Do you hear of all the scandanavian team bhing like little girls? NO thats why they are so much better!

BE NICE! (or end up like rigs lol, sorry)

Show me where I said fcc were justified taking the default. They were cs in that example, I brought it up in response to Dart saying BWCSL wouldn't let Ns have the default. The league can't force a postponement if its less than 24 hours before the match, but if the teams agree then it can be arranged. Looks like fcc pretended to agee and went back on their word, bad from them but nothing to do with the league peeps.

and wtf s your obsession with us aard ?

if you wanna choose a team to be upset about not beating then at least aim at a decent team like omg/erm or summat ?

i mean we go to a lan fully expecting to finish 7th with 0 points and only aiming to beat scee on rounds won by a few..

you really need to get all bothered about something worth getting bothered about.
