		finished by 10pm, do you? Hell it was a struggle with 16 teams on mr12. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	Weebull 20:52 15/5/2003	Well the poll is pretty close, I'd doubt they'll bother with mr15. How much time do you reckon the extra 16 matches would take? How many comps are there? [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

	Dev theb0g 20:53 15/5/2003	LOTS OF TIME, but thats just a hunch. 4 games on max at a time, even with mr12 your looking at a VERY LATE finish. Don't forget there is the UT2K3 and so forth to get done before hand. Nice to see all the demand though, can only prove that there is a lot of UK clans wanting to go to regular LAN events. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	DoZ Anti-saviour of UKT 20:54 15/5/2003	Enough at Northampton for 4 games to take place at a time, but 32 teams will be too many probably - especially if it's double elim [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

	Choke MaT Choke 21:01 15/5/2003	it's probably the incentive of the fact that it's more than just ukt lan - it's also qualifiers and a free trip to a big lan at the end of it, that has caused so many sign ups. If it wasnt for that less teams would probably be going due to exams, but I expect all the top UK teams have turned out for this one. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

We may not be in the same league as the like of 4k/one/omg/lc and others that may be in attendance, but we're hardly st! And we haven't attended/signed up to any lan to date due to the fact that we cant usually all get the time off to attend as a team and don't want to mess lan organisers around with "maybes". This is the first lan we've signed up to, so until we put in a "no-show" performance, your comment is unjustified. If we're lucky enough to have our application accepted, we may do ok, we may come last, it matters not, we play for fun. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
