The onlinesports name came about when i made cs movies, i got fed up with making them and formed a clan, name stayed, seemed ok at the time.

If they are so mature and all that, why chose the name onlinesports? if i was organising a lan any team with either of those words in wouldnt be allowed!

Look at it this way.....the most games we play are online...pcws ed or cb matches.Same as for most other clans around.Why shouldnt the name onlinesports be appropriate?Attending lans happens rarely...as there arent enough events happening in the uk atm...and for the few good lans u have to apply and be lucky if u get picked(i.e. ukt lan events).

The clans name is founded in kwiks cs-movie site and will surely stay until we cba to play anymore :P

On another note i am lucky that people with ur attitude dont organize lans.

P.S. I wub u Luke :o

Look at this wat happened at netport! Shocking if uk.lpool go through. After Lan-world had planted and it was a 3v1 situation in favour of lan-world when the server changed map due to timelimit o/
Then it carried on from the same score from pistols!
[Comment: Report | IP: Logged]

HeNdie Void 12:45 18/8/2003	If lan-world had got that round were the bomb had been planted, (which they had 3v1 situation and 10 secons left on timer)they would of won the game and qulaified. Due to no fault of theres they may no longer qualify now! [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
Scrappy Sniper's Alley 13:05 18/8/2003	lol how on earth did that happen. Surely 'Super Myers' sent out server configs to be used in all the qualifers. That way silly mistakes like that can be avoided. Tho saying that we were delayed at Coventry because alledgely Myers had emailed round last years config for the gaming pcs. Meaning all the pcs had to be redone at the last minute. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
Bodkin 2seXeh 2perfoRm 13:13 18/8/2003	yup, all pc's had ex_interp 0.05 [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
kwik^ OnlineSports 13:20 18/8/2003	The PC's at the centre we attended were awful, first match took an hour to get started after constant pc crashes, cfg wipes and dodgy mice movement. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
StriKeN unicon.cs 13:58 18/8/2003	we had similar mouse problems @ leeds.... operating system used was Windows 98 and we were not able to download and install mouse drivers due to their freezing program. all in all leeds was an excellent laid out centre, although these two issues should be addressed! ferrers Sniper's Alley 14:19 18/8/2003	I think id win the award for most fed pc , if you ask anyone who went to coventry :) only 3 crashes to desktop with a usb problem, Followed by me standing on a desk mid game trying to swap to a ps2 mouse, Having all my keys unbound and me trying to defuse shouting I cant do it. "thanks to the helpful person who shouted press E" Oh and the insult of losing the final round in overtime and then the whole pc crashing to a blue screen with a fatal exception error. Good way to start the my first game back for a month.

But beside that a really good day out for the us oap's well played to all the teams there and a deserved victory for o:i.

GG all who went Bham for allnighter :> pld some teams there all people were safe n all. Well played O:i at coventry, we got raped on train, nothing more to say. We tried to "eco T pistol" and not die, but rich showed (beats for him). anyway, o:i played well, so did bE which was a good game, went into overtime. Pitty we couldnt play the final, d2 and nuke are probably 2 of our stronger maps (like all clans) :>

Oh that sounds nasty. Seems like Lanworld were hard done by. Server wasn't setup with wcg config which caused the prob. But then i guess the admins went by the rules and restarted correctly. To throw another spanner in the works it looks like uk.Lpool had an unregistered player. Ooh the controversy :D [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Bodkin 2seXeh 2perfoRm 16:49 18/8/2003	no1 2 blame but admins. hard situation.. but wuda been better solved privately rather than every1 else putting their pov's in. [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
