CB Open Cup Final - ONE Step Too Far

Posted by Ripper at 22:27 22/1/2003.

Magic tonight beat ClanONE in the final of the Clanbase Opencup Fall 2002 Division 1. The final score was 26-22 after ONE lost 15-9 on de_nuke and then won 13-11 on de_dust2. Soon after the match I grabbed a quick word with KhAoS:

Ripper: Are you happy with how ONE performed tonight?

KhAoS: Yes, we played to the best of our ability under poor circumstances.

Ripper: The rumours of ping problems have been sweeping IRC, can you shed any light on these stories?

KhAoS: well initially magic were demanding both maps to be played on a danish server as one of their players had a spiking 150 ping (as if downloading :O) but was fine in the actual match. Magic demanded we join 3 danish servers to test ping, which we did, first 2 pinged 70, then the final server pinged 110. Magic then said that they'd choose this server as theirs, which I thought was bad sportsmanship on their behalf, but we can't all play fair.

Ripper: Do you think you've done enough to be considered for the Eurocup next season?

KhAoS: I would hope so, i don't think 4kings have applied and if they don't i think we stand a chance of at least getting a playoff for a EC place.

Unlucky to ONE, never nice to lose under those circumstances but lets hope they get the chance to prove themselves in the upcoming Eurocup.
