UKTerrorist LAN 5 - Seedings

Posted by Ripper at 16:01 24/9/2003.

With the next UKT LAN steadily approaching, the seedings have been completed and the brackets for the professional tournament can be viewed by clicking the following link:

UKT 5 Professional Tournament Brackets.

Some cracking matches will take place first round with Legend going up against section7, DK and Fred will meet up again in SCEE vs Zebras and O:i will try and get off to a good start against Pacifico.

As for the amateur tournament, 4 teams have been seeded and they will each be split between the 4 groups of 4 teams. The 4 seeded teams are as followed:

- SFAL
- qTp
- reSonance
- Pro

Groups and brackets can be viewed here (you will need the latest java driver).

The winner and runner-up of the amateur tournament on the Saturday will advance to the professional tournament where they'll assume their noted place in the brackets.

Good luck all and see you there!

Feeling good, cba keeping my weight down to fighting lows. Too fing old for that hard work! toomy all im saying is ui always got a decent rating regardless of their current form. Any poor performance was always put down to something or other for the ext LAN when they got another decent seeding. Seeding can give a clan a good start, or even the 'easier' run through. Then you get all this 'they own' s. Im not arsed about who we play, I enjoyed playing ONE and hopefully we'll get to play again! With the next UKT LAN steadily approaching, the seedings have been completed and the brackets for the professional tournament can be viewed by clicking the following link:

UKT 5 Professional Tournament Brackets.

Some cracking matches will take place first round with Legend going up against section7, DK and Fred will meet up again in SCEE vs Zebras and O:i will try and get off to a good start against Pacifico.

As for the amateur tournament, 4 teams have been seeded and they will each be split between the 4 groups of 4 teams. The 4 seeded teams are as followed:

- SFAL
- qTp
- reSonance
- Pro

Groups and brackets can be viewed here (you will need the latest java driver).

The winner and runner-up of the amateur tournament on the Saturday will advance to the professional tournament where they'll assume their noted place in the brackets.

Good luck all and see you there!

Ripper Rush! 21:11 24/9/2003	yo, just got back from work. flame flame flame fine i'll go over every clan in the seedings and put why i seeded them there. ONE, originally seeded them 2nd but they actually have LAN results so they got the top spot. I-eS, no results apart from creaming illu, ies and dist are interchangeable so i went for I- eS 2nd. Disturbed, most stable lineup out of the top 3, could probably take ONE and I-eS if they draw them on a strong map, but on results and "rep" i put them 3rd.

section7, good show at ukt4, interchangeable with pacifico really, but pacifico losing acolyte tipped it in s7's balance so they got 4th.

Pacifico, see above.

Forsaken, finished 5th at ukt2 after a bad seeding, stable lineup been around for ages now and have a better lan finish than those below them.

Choke, solid team like forsaken another stable lineup, got this seeding instead of 6th purely because forsakens lan result was better so i thought i'd get flamed if i put a team based on rep above another based on result.

Zebras, no results to speak of apart from 2 csgn games which dont really prove much, solid team but didn't wanna give them too high of a seeding as they dont have results to merit it. Although i do expect them to get a finishing place higher than their seeding.

SCEE, finished 7th was it at ukt3, actually played them myself and although they had a good team they didn't perform to what their players rep's would have deserved. And after changeing fred and kam with bror and munk i think? i just dont think their teams as good, so they got 9th.

Puk Kai, half decent performance at wcg, obviously had to be seeded above O:i after beating them and with kit they'll probably be better, but nothing more than a "middle seed" so to speak.

2s2p, like puk kai, half decent performance at wcg, beaten by 4k, puk kai and 2s2p are interchangeable like a few other situations.

O:i, been used to giving these guys a relatively high seed but they've never matches it, and after a poor wcg i dont think they can expect more than this, hope callisto proves everyone wrong though. Placed them above legend purely because they have more results at lan and didn't do that bad at savlan in a few games.

Legend, 1 lan game which they unexpectedly lost so they cant expect much more.

N@S, been missing from lan events for ages so its hard to even seed them at all, messiah used to play for them on lan as fara s i can remember but he's not present so it'll be interesting to see if they can still compete with todays standard.

amataur winners up obviously had to go here otherwise they would have been picked for the pro tournament

this lan is different to others in that theres loads of teams which are of similar skill level, so its hard to decide how to decide who deserves what seed. After deciding theses seeds i just bunged them in compomaster and they give the games in the brackets, so deal with it.

Its so that you get the best 2 teams (in theory) to the final, and no lame team gets an easy ride into the final whilst all the good teams play each other early on [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Havors 16:08 25/9/2003	SCEE have been shafted because they are playing Zebras in 1st round who consist of some very very good players then if they manage to beat them they get ONE in 2nd round. Where as in the bottom half of the bracket the likes of Section7 ?? Legend ?? O:i and Pacifico ?? play. All inmho not as good as SCEE and Zebras. The seedings are screwed end of story.
