UKT LAN 5 to be CS 1.5

Posted by Myers at 17:51 25/9/2003.

Due to the problems surrounding the current release of CS 1.6, Steam, lack of HLTV and various issues that could arise we have decided to use Counter-Strike 1.5 for UKTerrorist LAN Championships 5.

With Counter-Strike 1.5 teams will not have to learn new layouts of maps (the list of order of which will be released on Sunday) and myself and the staff of the Northampton IT-Centre well practiced in what we are doing with regards to server setup, HLTV and any other problems that could arise. Thus ensuring a smooth tournament for all competitors.

Apologies for any inconvenience this change has caused, but in the long run we hope most players appreciate our decision.

DoZ Anti-saviour of UKT 17:58 25/9/2003	Use it because 1.6 is still as good as a beta. Why risk having to screw everyone over cancelling a tourny or having it REALLY badly run when 1.5 is still out there and people can still play it? [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

This is meant to be a repected competition, yet the PCs can't handle the latest version of the game! wtf?? I am only going on a hunch but I reckon that 1.6 will be fine come UKT5, most people want to play it, so I guess the next poll should be "are you willing to use 1.6 even if it causes problems?"	[Comment: Report IP: Logged]
	DoZ Anti-saviour of UKT 18:09 25/9/2003	People need to be told in advance what to use and have the time to get used to it. 1.5 is the safe bet, there's NO assurance that half the problems for holding a lan tournament will be sorted for 1.6 Considering people pay money to enter and to get there, take time off work etc. To have another tournament possibly go ballsup because you're trying to use a buggy bit of software when there's a stable version would just be dumb. skank 18:13 25/9/2003	Obi, it is because it is an old game that it causes these fps problems, it can't use Hardware T&L so that has to be done on CPU, the more complex they make the game, the more CPU it uses, so older, slower CPUs have probs with FPS, anything 2GHz is more than enough, and they are pretty cheap nowadays. SIE Choke 18:34 25/9/2003	1.6 HLTV can only connect to servers on the same network so i don't see why that should be a problem. Just about everybody is playing 1.6 now. I've not had any problems with 1.6 for well over a week. The IT-Centre have an internet connection and afterall once you have all the files u only need it to login to steam so all in all i don't see the problem with 1.6.

UKT LAN 5 to be CS 1.5

Posted by Myers at 17:51 25/9/2003.

Due to the problems surrounding the current release of CS 1.6, Steam, lack of HLTV and various issues that could arise we have decided to use Counter-Strike 1.5 for UKTerrorist LAN Championships 5.

With Counter-Strike 1.5 teams will not have to learn new layouts of maps (the list of order of which will be released on Sunday) and myself and the staff of the Northampton IT-Centre well practiced in what we are doing with regards to server setup, HLTV and any other problems that could arise. Thus ensuring a smooth tournament for all competitors.

Apologies for any inconvenience this change has caused, but in the long run we hope most players appreciate our decision.

		Myers Saviour of UKT UKTerrorist 08:36 26/9/2003	we held an event at bath...finished at 2:30am in the morning. I hold them at the IT-Centre because it is the best centre for running tournaments in the UK. It has a spectator room, upstairs and downstairs with 40 gaming computers, then extra computers in the spectator area for servers/hltv/internet etc... [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
		`NWA 08:52 26/9/2003	Myers, shame the PCs can't handle high CPU usage games (allegedly). One of the more important factors to be taken into account in my opinion but there you go. Spectators dont pay you to watch HLTV, the competitors are so surely what's best for them should be taken into account first. My PC is near on 2 years old and I got 100 fps constant in 1.5. Orrill, Otis obviously knows what he's on about, the only hitboxes bug there was with 1.6 was with the shield. And they have now been fixed. Interp / rates works differently in CS 1.6. Read up and set em right for your connection and you should find your bullets hit in the right place. But hey I'm probably not going to UKT5 so my knowledge / opinions dont matter eh? 	fez 10:45 26/9/2003	the computers at the IT centre cant handle 1.5. we talkin bout the same centre here. i have been to 2 ukt events at northampton and the PCs have been spot on for both LANs no problems at all fps wise [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

	Purple 11:43 26/9/2003	Being a forward thinking LAN, supposedly one of the biggest in the UK, I am absolutely amazed that UKT have come to the conclusion that CS1.5 is the best choice for this Tournament. There are many reasons that i can think of for using C1.6 and pretty much none for not using it.

For example. CS 1.6 does not work with HLTV very well. TBH. The admins should be laughing. It means they have less to worry about throughout the day. 1 less thing to go wrong.

I think it is a grave mistake to play a redundant version of CS when an admin could setup all the PC's at the centre in an evening (Not like they haven't got all week to get it working).

I do hope all you guys reconsider and let us play the game most of us will have been playing for almost a month (at time of event)

UKT LAN 5 to be CS 1.5

Posted by Myers at 17:51 25/9/2003.

Due to the problems surrounding the current release of CS 1.6, Steam, lack of HLTV and various issues that could arise we have decided to use Counter-Strike 1.5 for UKTerrorist LAN Championships 5.

With Counter-Strike 1.5 teams will not have to learn new layouts of maps (the list of order of which will be released on Sunday) and myself and the staff of the Northampton IT-Centre well practiced in what we are doing with regards to server setup, HLTV and any other problems that could arise. Thus ensuring a smooth tournament for all competitors.

Apologies for any inconvenience this change has caused, but in the long run we hope most players appreciate our decision.

I think it is a grave mistake to play a redundant version of CS when an admin could setup all the PC's at the centre in an evening (Not like they haven't got all week to get it working).

All week to get it working, well firstly the Northampton IT-Centre would need to purchase a lot more licenses of Half-Life as at present they have a LAN License which means 1 cd key per 5 computers i believe.

	As for all week?..don't u think that there are other people using the IT-Centre perhaps during the week? :) It is setup the evening before with great thanks to Dom from the IT-Centre. [Comment: Report IP: Logged] akujii0r Infinity-eSports 12:07 26/9/2003	Dont patronise me nt4 self titled windows 2000 is nt5 the new breed of windows' networking operating system 2002 nt5.1 and so on and so forth i think 2 years a level IT a bit-part year of software engineering and proccessing onto CCNP is quite enough knowledge not to have to google such miniscule matters. Dont judge everyone by your standards :) i bid u adieu [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

PHB 15:31 26/9/2003	You realise 1.0 would even stablier to run at a lan tourney? But we don't go back to that because of it. 1.6 is the current release of CS, use it :) [Comment: Report IP: Logged]
Purple 15:31 26/9/2003	Myers I am fully aware of what goes on at LAN centres. It does not however change what I said before. If they/you want to run a premier event in the UK you should treat it and the people competing as such.

		A full HL CD key cost £10 these days (the lan centre will have to purchase these at some stage for steam seeing as supposedly quite soon WON will be turned off and the customers that would like to play CS over the net will not be able to). And setting up each machine can be done during working hours as I sure that not all the machines are not used all the time. I am sure they are quite busy but it does not take much to get steam running on a PC (a CD with STEAM + cache files and the afore mentioned CD key). [Comment: Report IP: Logged]

Disturbed
09:20, 26/9/2003 windows
2000 was built on nt 5.1
technology :) so the numbers stayed through.. but im sure u didnt read far enough down on google

just quote urself
they built windows 2000 out of an operating system that didnt even exist! i think thats witty
